JURY ACQUITTED AGED CRIPPLE OF MURDER CHARGE

Plea of Self-Defense Won Case for Springfield Man, 70

Beardstown, Ill., Mar. 2—(AP)—Andrew Hurley, 70-year-old cripple of Springfield, was acquitted last night by a jury in the Beardstown City Court of the slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Denny, 44, also of Springfield. The jury deliberated five hours before finding him not guilty.

The climax of Hurley's successful defense came yesterday afternoon when the aged cripple told the jury he had acted in self-defense after Mrs. Denny had attempted to kill him. His counsel called attention to Hurley's discolored eye as further evidence of an attack.

The fatal shooting occurred on January 13. The quarrel between Hurley and Mrs. Denny arose, he said, when he asked her to return some money he had lent her. He said he furnished money with which Mrs. Denny started a roadhouse. Hurley denied any intention of killing her.

BANK AT ROCKTON ROBBED BY THREE MEN; LOOT $2,109

Unmasked Robbers Herded Cashier and Customers in Vault

Three men, none of whom wore a mask, invaded the bank at Rockton, twelve miles north of Rockford, at 8:50 o'clock this morning, with drawn guns herded Cashier Edward Shotliff and two customers—T. G. Linquist, Winnebago county Forester, and William Merrill—into the vault, and escaped with $2,109 in cash, which the banker had just taken from the vault and placed on the counter.

Sweeping the money into a satchel, which one of them carried, the three calmly walked down the street over a block to a Ford sedan, in which a

CONGRESS' RUSH TO COMPLETE ITS WORK NEARS END

Agreement is Reached by Both Branches on Several Acts

BULLETIN

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The House today accepted the Senate changes in the White bill to continue the Federal Radio Commission as an administrative body until Dec. 31, 1929. The measure now goes to the President.

The deadlock between the House and the Senate over the Interior Department supply bill was broken today when the House adopted a compromise report representing a compromise between the two bodies over the proposal to condemn privately owned lands for park purposes.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, March 2—(AP)—Its principal worries over as a result of last minute concessions and compromises on major legislation, the seventy-ninth Congress was almost ready to close its doors today and turn out to see the Hoover inaugural.

Of course, much remained to be done, and the fall of the gavel on Monday threatens to kill many eleventh-hour nominations and minor bills, but leaders were breathing easier for the first time in weeks after the Senate and House at the first twin night session of the winter reached an agreement on the controversial proposal for an increase in prohibition enforcement funds and broke the deadlock on the radio bill.

The first move toward relieving the clogged machinery was the compromise on the prohibition item. The amount finally agreed upon was $2,977,000, exclusive of an additional $250,000 for a survey of enforcement conditions by a commission to be appointed by President-elect Hoover. These funds were included in the two pending deficiency measures and the House last night gave approval to the conference report on one of these bills which carries more than a million dollars of the total.

Senate Must Act

The Senate must act on that report as well as the conference agreement on the first deficiency measure carrying the balance of the appropriation. The House will complete congressional action on this bill.

As a result of the compromise on the $2,977,000 item, which brings the total direct appropriations for the next fiscal year for dry law enforcement to approximately $18,000,000, the conferees finally ditched the controverted $24,000,000 proposal of Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, which the Senate inserted in the first deficiency bill. The total, however, was slightly higher than the $2,727,000 figure recommended by President Coolidge and which the House approved in passing the second deficiency bill.

Filibuster last night in the Senate threatened the measures providing for extending the life of the Radio Commission as an administrative body and for a survey of a route for a possible interoceanic ship canal across Nicaragua, but these finally died out and the bills were approved.

Filibuster Ends

After speaking more than six hours against the radio bill, Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, proposed an amendment to give the commission a new lease on life until December 31, 1929. The measure then was passed with the amendment and sent back to the House, which had passed a bill to extend the Commission's tenure until March 10, 1930.

With the two deficiency measures and the other controversial proposals well on the way to final action, only one of the eleven major appropriations bills passed upon annually for running the government remained under a cloud. This is the Interior bill, a dispute over which has been hanging fire ever since the House approved an amendment providing for condemnation of private property in national parks. The bill was the second of the big supply measures passed this session early in December. The House sent it to conference for the third time yesterday after disagreeing to a Senate change sponsored by Senators Walsh and Wheeler, Democrats, Montana, which would exempt park lands from condemnation when occupied by residences, churches or hotels.

As for this the Senate and House last night seemed in a mood to please the galleries and did not stop with the smoothing out of major differences. They plugged away at their tasks well into the night and cleaned up much of the chaff from the fast-moving bill mill.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

TO HEAR INAUGURATION

Some of the classes of the Dixon high school will listen to the inauguration address of President Herbert Hoover Monday morning. A radio is to be installed in the assembly hall and several of the classes will be privileged to listen to the interesting program.

CONDITION SERIOUS

Charles Stanard, veteran veterinarian and a deputy sheriff of Lee county for almost a quarter of a century, is in a critical condition. A week ago, Mr. Stanard suffered a slight stroke at his home in Amboy, after an active day's work and his condition has been growing much worse.

MAY LEAVE HOSPITAL

John Fassler, the young man who was seriously injured in the accident at Nachusa last week, and who has since been receiving treatment at the Dixon Hospital, expects to be able to go to his home about Tuesday, according to reports from his family today.

STUDENTS GET LODGING

A number of students from the St. Ambrose College at Davenport, applied at the police station last evening and were accommodated with a night's lodging. The students were hitch-hiking from Davenport to Chicago to witness this evening's basketball game between St. Ambrose and Loyola. They were conserving their funds for the game and railroad tickets back to Davenport tomorrow.

INSURANCE MEN MEET

Twenty agents of the Franklin Life Insurance Co. in this territory, of which T. J. Miller, Jr. of Dixon is general agent, held a meeting and banquet at the Nachusa Tavern Thursday evening, at which some interesting talks were made. Vice President G. W. Jones and Secretary Will Taylor of the company were present and delivered addresses.

TAX MAN COMING

Edgar Morse, deputy collector of internal revenue, whose office is in Rock Island, will be at the Circuit Court room in Dixon Monday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to assist any who desire help in filing their income tax returns. The service is free and Mr. Morse will have a complete supply of necessary blanks for those who have failed to receive them through the mail.

RE-ENTERS BUSINESS

Joe Vaile, who for several years conducted a real estate and insurance business, announced today that he has re-entered that line with offices at 219 W. First street. He has taken the general agency for the Interstate Business Men's Accident Insurance Co., having five counties under his direction, in addition to other companies and will devote his entire time to the real estate and insurance business.

TO MEET IN AFTERNOON

Because all of the members of the Dixon Ministerial Assn. wish to "listen in" on the inauguration of President-elect Hoover Monday morning, the meeting of the Association, which was to have been held at the Y. M. C. A. in the morning, will not be held until 3 p. m. The speaker will be J. C. Kolier, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who will speak on "The Church and the Y. M. C. A."

A BITING REPORT.

Wyoming, Ia.—Frank Matejka, 60, a wealthy farmer, is bad music to robbers. Two of them recently broke into his home and attempted to tie him up. One got his fingers into the way of Matejka's mouth and the old fellow nearly bit them off. The robbers fled, without getting a thing.

EVERY COMFORT POSSIBLE GIVEN INSANE MOTHER

Much Sympathy Felt for Mrs. Frances K. Greig in Morrison

Morrison—Every possible provision for the comfort of Mrs. Frances Greig, the unfortunate Sterling woman who ended the life of her daughter, Georgianna, Wednesday, while suffering from mental delusions, is being made by Sheriff Kelly. She will be shown the utmost consideration between now and the time when her hearing takes place.

Mrs. Greig was brought to Morrison late Wednesday afternoon following the inquest over her daughter. She ate a hearty supper, commenting on how good everything tasted, and how clean her bed looked. She enjoyed a good night's sleep, ate a good breakfast, and then took additional sleep. The cell which she will occupy is on the second floor and is what has been used as the finger print room. A day bed, large stand, a rocking chair and straight back chair are among the little extras which have been provided for Mrs. Greig, for whom much sympathy is expressed.

SENIORS OF NORTH SIDE HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED COMEDY

Unusually Fine Performance by Students was Heartily Applauded

A large and appreciative audience gathered in North Dixon Kindergarten hall last evening to witness the presentation of the North Side Senior Class play, "Nothing But the Truth," a comedy in three acts, by James Montgomery. The production, which will be given again this evening in Kindergarten hall at 8:15 o'clock, was a success from start to finish, and is one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever offered at the school.

Prof. B. J. Frazer who directed the play, is to be congratulated on the work of his students. They show intensive training; every movement made while one of the cast was on the stage, meant something. Another excellent feature was the clearness of diction of each actor or actress; one could understand everything said. The story is an interesting one with delightfully funny situations. The action is spirited and the plot works to a happy climax, where everyone receives his or her, just deserts. The players got the spirit of the production and their interpretation is fine. The stage settings and property effects were good. The audience gave their approval in sustained applause.

Lenten Thought

BY FRANK E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congressionalist

Great satisfactions are related to great needs. A man who has no appetite can have no enjoyment of a meal, and the man who has no eye for beauty, or who does not feel the need of great literature can find no satisfaction in art or in great books. Jesus reminded men that this is true of human salvation. He spoke of Himself as the Savior of the "lost" because it was they who felt their need of a Savior. He said, "that they that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick."

If one would know the reality of the salvation that Jesus brings, he must have the consciousness of need. Do we not tend today to think of Jesus chiefly as a great teacher and as a great ethical leader, forgetting that His teaching and His ethical power were founded in the message of love that He brought to men and the power of that love to restore those who had fallen in the way of life?

If we realized the meaning of love and goodness as Jesus realized it, would we not feel the need of salvation? Would we be content until we had found in Jesus, the Savior of the world, a satisfaction that perhaps, as yet, we have never experienced? Jesus came not only to satisfy man's deepest wants, but to create deeper needs and longings than man had yet felt.

CHICAGO MAN TO BE SEC. COMMERCE IN NEXT CABINET

Robert P. Lamont, Cook Co. Engineer, Tenth Man to be Picked

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Mar. 2—(AP)—President-elect Hoover, himself an engineer, has selected another engineer, Robert Patterson Lamont of Chicago, to head the Department of Commerce of which he was the chief for nearly eight years.

The selection of the President of the American Steel Foundries Company as the tenth man in the new Cabinet was uncovered by The Associated Press, ending a long period of intensive speculation as to his tentative selection. Soon afterwards the appointment was formally announced at Hoover headquarters at the Mayflower hotel.

The ten men who are to be the official advisers of the next President-elect are:

Cabinet Members
Secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson of New York.
Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania.
Secretary of War, James W. Good of Iowa.
Attorney General, William D. Mitchell of Minnesota.
Postmaster General, Walter F. Brown of Ohio.
Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams of Massachusetts.
Secretary of Interior, Dr. Ray Lyman Dill of California.
Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri.
Secretary of Commerce, Robert P. Lamont of Illinois.
Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis of Pennsylvania.

The selection of Mr. Lamont came as a complete surprise to politicians generally. He never has been active in politics, having devoted his life to engineering and business affairs.

Sought Clever Man

In casing about for a man to carry forward the work he had so long done himself, Mr. Hoover desired first of all to find an outstanding engineer who ranked high both in his profession and in the business world generally.

Mr. Lamont was recommended as fulfilling those qualifications and the President-elect induced him to accept the appointment. Apparently he consulted with only a few of his close advisers.

The newly chosen Secretary of Commerce is 62 years old and was born in Detroit. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He was an engineer at the Chicago Exposition and became first vice president of the American Steel Foundries Company in 1905. He was elevated to the presidency seven years later.

During the World War Mr. Lamont was chief of the procurement division of the Ordnance Department. His home is in Lake Forest, Ill.

By JAMES L. WEST

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The climax of a crowded career only forty-eight hours away, President-elect Hoover today awaited his inauguration with a serenity sharply in contrast with the frenzied efforts of the political guessers to hit upon the name of the tenth man in his Cabinet, the Commerce Secretary.

The identity of the other one of the two men around whom had been thrown a veil of mystery was uncovered overnight. He is Arthur M. Hyde, former Governor of Missouri, who has accepted the Agricultural portfolio.

In making this appointment, the new Chief Executive went into the camp of the most formidable of his foes in the pre-convention campaign—former Governor Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, who withdrew his name at the Kansas City convention after the equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen bill had been rejected by an overwhelming majority of the delegates.

Other "man of mystery" is known to be a big business man of Cook county, Illinois, but after the trail had been carried that far it was lost in the vast array of the names of big business men in Chicago and its environs.

Apparently getting the same quiet amusement out of this Cabinet guessing game that he has from its inception months ago, the President-elect apparently had sworn to secrecy all of those whom he had taken into his confidence, for they were as silent almost as the tomb.

As he awaits the dawn of Monday, Mr. Hoover is enjoying the peace of the big red brick mansion on S. street, which has been his home for years. He is surrounded there by all of the members of his immediate family, the circle having been completed with the arrival last night of Allan, who is a student at Leland.

GIRL ATTACKERS WAIVE HEARINGS; ONE OUT ON BOND

Rockford Youths Held to Grand Jury for Attack on Dixon Girl

Rockford, March 2—Joe Rotello, 22 years old, and Sam Albimino, 25 years old, Rockford men charged with attacking an 18 year old Dixon girl the night of Feb. 17 waived preliminary examination when arraigned before Justice F. J. C. Krahm late Friday afternoon and were bound over to the April grand jury under bonds of $5,000 each. Rotello provided bond, but Albimino was returned to jail where he has been since the two were arrested Feb. 24. Rotello is charged with assaulting the girl as the climax of an automobile ride after a dance, while Albimino is alleged to have prevented a Rockford girl he was with from interfering when Rotello attacked her Dixon friend.

Admits Attack

Rotello is said to have admitted every feature of the charge except that he used force to overcome the girl's resistance. He was represented by C. K. Welsh and Albimino's attorney is George T. Liddell. State's Attorney Karl C. Williams is prosecuting.

According to the complaint of the Dixon girl and her mother, the assault occurred when he got into Albimino's car for a ride after a dance. She was in Rockford visiting the girl who was Albimino's companion on the ride. Albimino drove the car to a side road south of the city and parked it. He then is charged with forcing the Rockford girl to get out of the car and leave Rotello and the Dixon girl alone in the rear seat.

The Rockford girl has filed no charges.

Murderer of Young Son Gets Sentence

Edwardsville, Ill., March 2—(AP)—Edwardsville, Ill., March 2—(AP)—Pleading guilty to a charge of murdering his 4-year-old son, Malialieu Cravens, 25, of Alton, Ill., was sentenced late yesterday in Circuit Court here to serve 20 years in the southern Illinois penitentiary. Cravens, who was estranged from his wife, shot and killed their son, Louis, last May and then attempted suicide.

TRYING NON-STOP FLIGHT MEXICO TO WASHINGTON

Two Aviators Started Early This Morning on Their Attempt

Brownsville, Tex., March 2—(AP)—Joaquin Gonzales Pacheco and O. E. McMillan passed over the municipal airport here at 11:48 a. m. Central Standard time, today on their non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington, D. C. Their plane came down to an altitude of 25 feet. A note was dropped.

The plane had been unable to fly above the clouds, the note said, due to the heavy load of gasoline which necessitated the dumping of contents of one 120 gallon tank.

The note was addressed to George Hopkins, flier at this port, who formed flew with McMillan at the Stinson aircraft factory.

"Will try to make Washington," the flier said. "Please notify Mexico City and Washington. We are on our way."

After circling low at the airport until certain they had been seen, the international fliers dropped the message almost in the hangar door.

Mexico City, March 2—(AP)—Joaquin Gonzalez Pacheco and O. E. McMillan took off from Valbuena flying field at 6:47 o'clock this morning (7:47 a. m. E. S. T.) on a non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington.

The two airmen hoped to reach Bolling Field, Washington, early on Sunday morning. The distance was estimated at 2,300 miles. Colonel Charles L. Lindbergh is now the only man who has flown without a stop between the two capitals.

ARTILLERY WILL ESCORT LINDY'S PARTY ON JAUNT

A Bandit Raid on Train Near Morrow Country Home is Reason

Mexico City, Mar. 2.—(AP)—A heavy artillery escort was provided Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Ambassador Morrow and his family by the Mexican government this morning for their 40 mile trip to the Morrow country home at Cuernavaca.

A bandit raid on a freight train yesterday near Cuernavaca led to fears government officials that guerrilla elements, active in this area, intended harm to Mexico's distinguished guest and his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow.

The fear, however, was not shared by Colonel Lindbergh and the Morrrows, who shortly after their arrival from Toluca late yesterday reaffirmed their intention of making the trip today, returning to Mexico City Monday or Tuesday.

In the raid on the freight train yesterday, looting was followed by burning of the cars. The spot where it took place was between the stations of El Parque and Alarcon. In the state of Morelos, near the highway.

But for the fact that Colonel Lindbergh, his fiancee, her mother and sister Elizabeth, chose to go to Toluca instead of adhering to an original plan to motor to Cuernavaca yesterday they would have passed close to the scene of the bandit attack.

Although sources close to the Morrow family have reiterated there is to be no secret wedding between Anne and Colonel Lindbergh, a large contingent of newspaper men and photographers planned to follow the car carrying them as closely as the troop escort would permit.

CHARTING OUR COURSE.

It must be that this nation of ours is growing up. We are beginning to spin romances about the experiences of our youth; and when a man or a nation does that it is a sure sign that maturity is at hand.

The last few years have seen a great number of books, plays and moving pictures dealing with old, half-forgotten phases of American civilization. The covered wagon of the western home-seeker, the show boat of the inland rivers, the clipper ship of New Englanders, the slow-moving barge of the Erie and Ohio canals, the coming of the machine age to the children of the pioneers; all of these subjects, and others like them, have been made the basis for tales and dramas.

All are interesting. No American can really understand his country without soaking in them. Yet the mere fact that we can write about them so glibly proves that we left them far behind. Our very interest in them proves that we have half forgotten them. The Dakota home-stealers of the '90s would not have cared for "Giants in the Earth," nor would the Oregon settlers have enjoyed "The Covered Wagon."

Looking back, we find a strange romantic haze have coloring all those times. Things that in the reality of experience were terrible, or dull, or monotonous, or stifling, become, in retrospect, exciting or picturesque. We feel that it must have been good to be alive in those old days; the stories about them make such interesting reading.

So it is that things that were done in suffering and desperation become subject matter for diverting tales. The Oregon Trail, with all its pain and bloodshed and heart-hunger, becomes a picturesque panorama. The Army of Northern Virginia, marching to Appomattox, becomes a pleasantly romantic topic for poems and musical shows. The pioneer's wilderness cabin, where untended women bore children in utter loneliness, becomes a symbol that has just enough melancholy about it to make it interesting.

That is the way it has always been in this world. And there is this encouraging thing about it.

We have gone far enough from the pioneer days to make stories about them. We are also far enough removed from them to see them in perspective, and understand them as those who participated in them could not—even if we do lose sight of their unpleasant aspects. We have reached a point, in other words, where we can see the meaning of those by-gone experiences and achievements. We can tie them up into a unified whole.

That means that we can chart our own course with surer knowledge than our ancestors could. We can see that all the "picturesque" or "romantic" episodes of our country's history were parts of one great movement; a movement that took a huge wilderness and tried to turn it into a homeland where there could be more freedom, better times and a richer life for every man than ever before in history.

That movement is unfinished. It is our job to carry it on toward completion. Our re-awakened interest in the old days is a good sign. It signifies that we are beginning to see more clearly just where we are bound.

United States medical corps officers have warned New Yorkers to dispense with kissing until the influenza wave has subsided. By the way, the influenza epidemic started in Hollywood, didn't it?

A New York man arrested as a burglar, who told police he slipped on an orange peel and in falling broke the lock of a tailor shop door, then took $12 from the cash register because the tailor owed him that much for running errands, ought to go to Hollywood. That's the stuff of which movies are made.

Grover Whalen, New York's new police commissioner, ordered all speakeasy proprietors to sell good liquor or close up. That's one of the best prohibition plans we've seen to date.

The run-from-fumble has been abolished in football. The next step is to get the players to wear rubbers and carry umbrellas.

The $10 visa tax on passports has been abolished by Italy, Germany and several other European countries. That means that newspapermen and teachers are no longer barred.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY JONCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tree Man turned and looked around. Said he, "What was that raspy sound?" The Tinymites all stood real still, as quiet as could be. Then Carpy said, "It's right near by. Come on, now, everyone! We'll try to find out what is making it, and see what we can see."

They dashed across a little hill and waited there a while until they saw a little man right over by those trees." The Tree Man said, "That's what I thought, and this time all those men are caught. I'm going to frighten them away. Just watch me, if you please."

And then he scampered 'cross the ground. At first he didn't make a sound. The Tinymites stood and watched him, wondering just what was in store. Said Clowzy, "He's a real queer sort. I guess he's having heaps of sport. He's surely running toward those men. I wonder what it's for."

"You'll soon find out," another snapped. "It looks like all those men are trapped. The Tree Man's going to scold them 'cause their cutting down the trees." They soon found out that this was right. The old Tree Man, with all his might, jumped in among the woodsmen, where he landed on his knees.

The woodsmen all seemed mighty scared as Mister Tree Man jumped and raved. "Get out of here," he loudly cried. "Tree cutting, men, is wrong. The trees die off when they are cut. You should be punished right now, but this time I'll let you go if you will quickly run along."

Just then the Tinymites heard a squeak. A big oak tree began to speak. "Hello there, Tinymites," it said. "What are you doing here?"

"Just playing," little Carpy said. "Oh, all right then, go right ahead," replied the monstrous tree. "There's not a thing that you need fear."

(The Tinymites have more fun in the next story.)

WILBUR MAY BE U. S. JUDGE OF NINTH CIRCUIT

Retiring Sec. of Navy Nominated for Post by Mr. Coolidge

Washington, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, was nominated by President Coolidge today to be United States Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

By the nomination President Coolidge settled the future status of one of the first members of his Cabinet whose plans become definitely known. The retirement of the Secretary also will make it possible for Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, to become Secretary of the Interior in the Hoover cabinet without there being two brothers in the Cabinet.

Mr. Wilbur, before assuming the office of Secretary of the Navy, was a justice of the Supreme Court of California. His judicial experience covers a period of 25 years, and the circuit over which he will preside includes his home state of California.

The retiring Secretary became a member of the Coolidge Cabinet in 1924. Although a graduate of the Naval Academy, the trend of his mind has always been toward the judicial branch of the government.

In addition to Mr. Wilbur, the plans of Secretary Jardine have been announced. He is to serve as an advisor to a fruit enterprise with headquarters in Washington. While it is known that the majority of the other members of the Coolidge Cabinet are to leave, none have made public announcement of that fact or revealed his business plans for the future.

When the nomination of Mr. Wilbur and others to fill judicial positions reached the Capitol, Senator Norris, chairman of the Judiciary committee, expressed doubt that the nominations could be acted upon before adjournment on Monday.

Unless the Senate confirms the nominations before adjournment they die and the officers will be left to Herbert Hoover to fill.

Senator Norris expressed surprise that President Coolidge "would wait until this late hour" to send up the important judgeship nominations.

"I don't see how we will have time to investigate these nominees," Norris said, "as they should be inquired into for such important offices."

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—At the conclusion of the Legion meeting, Tuesday evening, Commander John P. Manning in behalf of Rochelle Post No. 493, presented Adjutant John P. Nelson with a gold watch bearing the Legion insignia.

At the present time Rochelle has 12 service claims filed with the Service Board and has four veterans in hospitals through the efforts of Service Officer Nelson and after all that is what counts—helping those who can't help themselves. Mr. Nelson is also 13th district athletic officer.

"We have more men in hospitals tonight than we have ever had since the war," declared L. R. Benson, Department Service Officer of the American Legion, of Chicago, in addressing the local post at their regular meeting.

At Jacksonville, Fla., a legion of 100 more than we have beds for. The suggestion of the state legislature to move men to the soldiers' home at Quincy is all wrong and a terrible mistake and the service department of the Legion is fighting it. The buildings at Quincy were built in 1889 for barracks and dormitories and are not suited for hospitals. Furthermore the Wabash railroad runs through the reservation making it a dangerous place to care for sick men.

The service officer cited several humorous and interesting cases and then asserted that "Out of the four million men in service during the world war one million have filed claims. There are now 250,000 men drawing compensation in the United States, 50,000 of which are insane, 17,000 in Illinois."

"The Department of Illinois is spending $40,000 a year to handle Illinois Service work. This sum is raised through the sale of poppies. The Veterans Bureau, of Chicago, handles a $675,000.00 payroll per month. We have 35,000 in hospitals, better than one-half in insane hospitals."

"Congress has passed 247 laws affecting veterans since the war, and every piece of legislation put on the books has either been sponsored by or fought through Congress by the Legion. The Legion created a Veterans Bureau under one head, and has justified its existence if through only this single accomplishment."

"At the present time the Legion is fighting for a permanent corps of doctors for the Veterans Bureau and adequate remuneration and pensions."

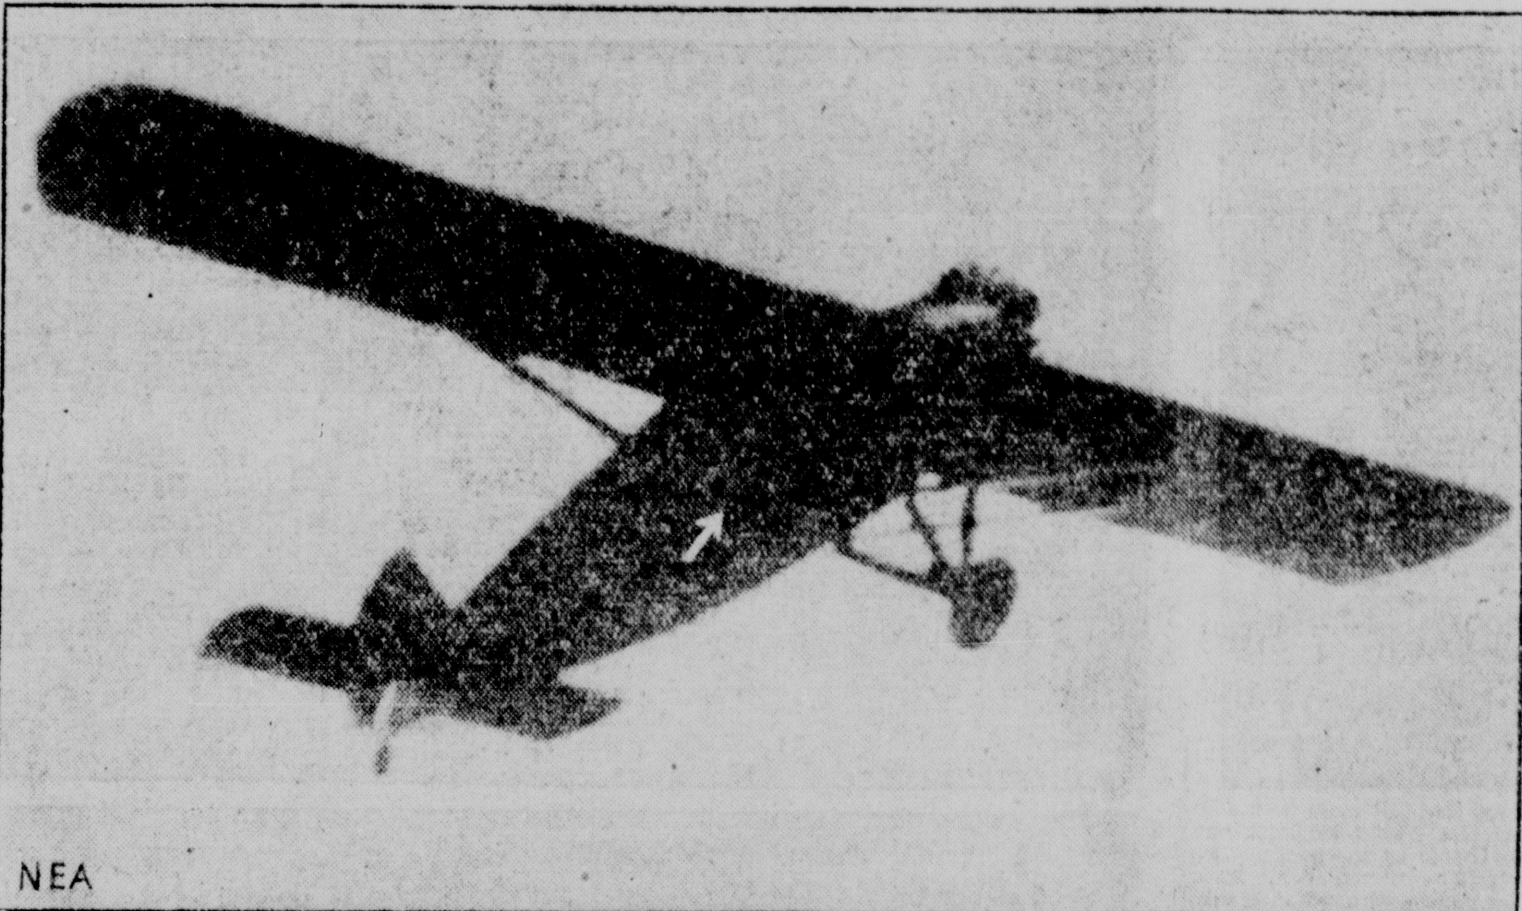

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

A Whirlwind Courtship.....on One Wheel

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's plane, "City of Wichita" shown in flight with right wheel missing as he and his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, flew over Valbuena field just before the crash.

At the present time the average age of doctors applying for positions with the Veterans Bureau is 55, and they are subject to transfer at their own expense and to dismissal when too old to serve.

Mr. Bonston arrived at noon and kept busy the balance of the day helping local war veterans file claims for insurance, compensation and the Victory Medal or button.

At 6:00 o'clock Mr. Bonston was a guest of the local post executive committee at dinner at the Collier Inn and at 7:30 he addressed the regular post meeting.

By vote of the post the Bogartus act legislation to secure veteran relief through the county board of supervisors was referred to the county organization.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

THE LONE EAGLE
One joyous summer time I wandered,
Wandered where the fair flowers grew;
Where the earth was filled with beauty,
Where fell soft the evening dew.

Where the hills in stately grandeur,
Reared their stern but graceful forms;
Where the valleys, clad with verdure,
Laughed in glee at welcome storms.

Where the sun went down in glory,
Where the evening stole apace;
Where the moon arose in silence,
Smiling on one lovely face.

Yes, a face so full of beauty,
One as fair as fair could be;
Like the morn when full of blushes,
Wandered she aside of me.

Wandering we in joy together,
Where Jasmine scents made sweet the air;
Is gadding beauties all about,
And tawny minstrels everywhere.

Mossy seats all framed by nature,
Welcomed us to rest awhile;
And gently seated, thus together,
The rosy summer hours beguile.

On her eyes I saw reflected,
All the joy that shone from mine;
Every little word she uttered,
Was a gem I would enshrine.

Shrined them in Memory's pages,
In my dreams they came anon,
Fleeting like all earthly pleasures,
Still most sweet to dream upon.

And her face—can I forget it?
Say, will age or distance sever
Thoughts that in my heart are dwelling?
Ah! the wind is sighing—never!

MY THIRTY YEARS AT SEA

By Capt. George Fried

Life as a crew sailor is behind him. Fried is at the turning point in a seaman's career; he becomes a junior officer. Another step is taken and with it more responsibility. Men are in his hands to do his bidding. Fried explains why one type of officer fails and the other succeeds.

By CAPT. GEORGE FRIED
(Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)
Chapter VI

The turning point in the life of a sailor is when he becomes a junior officer. I remember when I bridged the gap I thought I had achieved a great triumph. Perhaps you remember how you felt when you graduated from college and you were ready for your vocation, ready to overcome every obstacle and were certain of a successful career.

There is a slight difference between becoming a junior officer and going out into the world after graduating from college. An officer has a uniform. There may be very little gold on it, but nevertheless it is an inspiration to the wearer. At any rate, he has a job. A college man has to seek his.

Making the grade of a junior officer is like any other step of advancement. A promotion depends on the individual. He must have a good education for a foundation, he must have ability as a leader, and the most important of all, he must have executive ability.

This is quickly determined by the other officers that work with him. The work of a new junior officer is closely supervised. He is permitted to give a few orders and must stand watch. After a short period of time, if he is capable, he remains in the position, but if not he falls by the wayside. This means returning to the ranks. Few men will accept a demotion because of his pride, and ofttimes the young officer abandons the sea if he finds he is not qualified to go up the ladder.

If he remains he continues his studies and is alert so that he reaches the pinnacle of his success—that of being a Captain. Supreme command of a ship is the hope of every seafaring man. It has often been said that if a man taken from the ranks is given authority his true colors will come to the fore. Some men become abusive; others can issue orders in a pleasant manner and obtain the confidence and cooperation of every one with whom they come in contact.

I recall several instances, when a junior officer would study diligently and work hard on the decks for many hours to obtain that rank only to become unpopular with the men that were his former comrades. One officer, I remember, being assigned to the bridge for the first time, would stand beside the quartermaster for several minutes, then walk away some 10 or 15 feet and call the quartermaster aside to issue some kind of an order. The man would carry out his instructions, returning to his post, and the officer would again join him and a few minutes later would walk away and call him to his side to issue another order.

This became very irksome to the quartermaster and word soon spread around in the forecastle that the officer was getting a "big head." The other officers on the bridge were unaware of the situation. In a short time dislike for him became evident among the crew. He realized his mistake, but it was too late. Orders were not being carried out, and finally the man fell by the wayside.

Another instance was that of a junior officer who would give instructions to a boatswain and have the latter convey them to the quartermaster. Repeatedly he would call someone to give an order to another man. When the men were not receiving their orders direct from the officer in charge, they did not feel particularly gracious about it. The man who had to carry the order was disgruntled because he was taken away from routine tasks and was compelled to act as a messenger.

This officer, like the other, soon became unpopular and was transferred. On the other hand, I have seen junior officers who have been courteous and polite to their superiors and others. By the crews they were regarded as "good fellows." By superior officers they were considered able, so together with study they soon advanced.

There are many young officers who have shown unusual qualifications. Harry Manning, chief officer of the America, who was in charge of the boat that saved the crew of the Florida, is only 32 years of age. He had been captain for four trips aboard the President Roosevelt during 1928. During my absence from the America on the voyage following the rescue of the crew, he was assigned as captain to my ship—the youngest officer on the bridge.

This should be an inspiration for the young men of this country. Advancement is just as rapid and no more difficult than it is in any other field of endeavor. Hard work and study alone will make the grade. So-called "pull" means nothing and can mean nothing when the responsibilities of a large trans-Atlantic liner are his.

Ships are mechanical but there must be men behind them who can operate them successfully to insure the safety of the lives of all those aboard.

Missionaries Stick to Posts in China Despite Warnings

Chefoo, China, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Missionaries in northern Shantung chose today to remain at their posts despite hostility between Chinese factions which, in the opinion of consular authorities, threatened their safety. Recommendations that they evacuate their stations and come to Chefoo as soon as possible, where the U. S. Trenton is located, brought the response that they believed it their duty to remain. They said they would be able in remaining to relieve, with hospital work, some of the suffering of the Chinese victims of the new civil war.

From over the northern part of the province reports of villages burned and ravaged continue to reach here. Both sides are seeking support among various independent groups who are also pillaging and destroying. These latter number thousands.

Martial law prevails here. Merchants are uneasy and business is paralyzed. Everyone fears disorders.

Land Grants

The expenditure of public funds to build canals and improve rivers for navigation is often compared to the land grants that were made by the government to aid the construction of some pioneer railroads. The fact is that such expenditures and land grants are different in several important particulars.

Take the grant of land in Illinois to the original Illinois Central Railroad. It was the first of the federal land grants for railroads.

There is no question of the substantial help which the Illinois Central Railroad derived from this grant. Without such help the road could not have been built at the time it was built, in advance of the settlement of interior Illinois. Yet the government gave away nothing of value, for there was no one to buy the land until the railroad provided a reliable means of transportation.

On the other hand, the government received something of great value. The building of the Illinois Central Railroad enabled the government to sell at advanced prices the land it had retained and thereby recoup immediately the full price of the entire land grant. Moreover, taxable property was permanently created, the Illinois Central obligated itself forever to carry mail, troops and other government traffic at reduced rates, and a special tax was levied upon behalf of the state of Illinois which is still being regularly collected after more than seventy years.

Government expenditures on inland waterways are different. They are valuable at the time they are made, the beneficiaries give nothing for them, and where the government itself goes into the transportation business there is no increase in taxable property values.

Government assistance to inland waterways truly comparable to the Illinois Central land grant would be the donation of stretches of unimproved streams and adjacent worthless land, the recipients to make all improvements themselves, pay special taxes and handle government traffic at reduced rates.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

BANK BY MAIL

There are many arguments in favor of banking by mail. Much time can be saved by transacting banking business in this manner, and your deposits may be arranged at any time of the day when you have leisure to do so. If you will write with ink the words "For deposit only" above your endorsement of checks or drafts, it will prove an effective guarantee against loss or fraud. There is more risk in carrying checks endorsed in blank to and from the Bank than there is to mail them endorsed "For deposit only." We are always pleased to have you call, but will give all business forwarded to us by mail prompt, careful attention.

CAPITAL HAPPILY
AWAITS HOOVER'S
INAUGURATION FETE

Citizenry Mustering to Proudly Salute New President Monday

BULLETIN
Washington, Mar. 2—(AP)—The weather bureau predicted today that it probably will be raining Monday morning, the day of Herbert Hoover's inauguration.

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Mar. 2—(AP)—Assembling in the historic precincts of a Capital city transformed by glad preparations, the legions of American citizenry mustered today to salute proudly a new President of the Republic.

As the arriving throngs swelled by thousands, filling street and avenue with their colorful acclaim, no doubt remained that Herbert Hoover's inauguration on Monday would rank among the most brilliant peace-time fetes of American history, mirroring in gay pageant and solemn ceremony the night and contentment of a great people.

His Cabinet complete, and his inaugural address ready for delivery, the President-elect himself had for the moment one of the quietest roles of all in the tumult of last preparations. After trying weeks, he found an opportunity for a season of rest with his family in the red brick house on S Street from which he goes forty-eight hours hence for the responsibilities of the White House.

Coolidge Kept Busy.
Meantime, at the executive offices a mile away, undisturbed by the bustle about him, President Coolidge summoned his energies to a full day's work as the clock ticked away the last working hours of a political career which began thirty years ago. The usual last-minute grist of bills and resolutions from the slowing mills of legislation on Capitol Hill heaped his desk high. He kept to the task fate had set for him, but none who knew him doubted that his thoughts already were wandering longingly toward the hour when he could "go back home" to Northampton.

Except for the troubles of the expiring Congress, which have been keeping Senators and Representatives answering quorum calls through long night sessions, the only inharmonious note in the whole inaugural chorus came from the Weather Bureau. Yesterday's bright sunshine had been succeeded by overcast skies, and the weather forecasters thought it not improbable that rain might follow, both today and tomorrow. They had not yet reached far enough into the future to make definite promises about Monday, but with the crowds here, the inaugural committee declared that not even the caprices of the elements could materially dim the glamor of the occasion.

Program Begun Today.
Officially, the inaugural program mapped out by the town fathers of Washington began today, but the initial offerings merely were intended to give the visitors something to busy themselves while they waited for the great day. In this curtain-raiser the Army and Navy were the chief actors, the aviators of both services having been called upon to do stunts over nearby aviation fields while the Cavalry at Fort Myer, across the river, was mustered for an exhibition drill. Several of the state societies announced open house during afternoon and evening, and Washington society fluttered over a round of teas and dances.

Two of the central figures in the inaugural drama were concerned intimately with the final go-jam in Congress. One of them, Vice-President Dawes, found the concluding hours of his four years service as presiding officer of the Senate only a little less hectic than that opening session in 1925, when he undertook the still unfinished task of reforming Senate rules. The other, Curtis of Kansas, still a Senator but soon to be the nation's second in command, chose to stay out of the tenure of his Senatorial leadership, and keep the long hours with his colleagues. Tonight Dawes will be the guest of the Gridiron Club at a special dinner in his honor, while Coolidge entertains the Cabinet at the White House.

Deny Reports Pyle
Has Been Arrested

McAlester Okla., Mar. 2—(AP)—The Sheriff's office here today denied reports from Champaign, Ill., that C. C. Pyle, sports promoter, is being held here for Champaign authorities on a warrant charging him with conspiracy in connection with the failure of a Champaign bank.

Officials said that a travel bus, fitted for long trips and similar to the one used by Pyle in managing the "Bunion Derby" across the country last year, had arrived here which led to reports that Pyle was among those traveling it. These reports, the Sheriff's office said, had been found untrue.

HOT DOGS!

For over half an hour a small boy had been persistently whispering outside the butcher's shop. Finally, the butcher could stand it no longer. He rushed out into the street.

"Stop making that confounded noise, you little wretch!" he shouted.

"I've lost me dog," said the boy.

"Well, do you think I've got your dog, then?"

"I dunno," muttered the boy. "But every time I whistle those sausages of yours move!"—Answers.

POLO PERSONALS

Polo—The annual banquet of the Kensington Club, at which time the husbands are guests, was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Kroh.

Mrs. John Neek of Winona, Minn., came Tuesday evening to visit her mother, Mrs. Maria Klock. Class No. 7 of the Methodist church, Mrs. Ben Good, teacher, met at the home of Mrs. W. D. Rowland Thursday afternoon. The regular business meeting was held which was followed by a social time, after which refreshments were served.

The C. R. Hays family moved to Kenosha, Wis., where they will operate a dairy farm.

The Aid Society of the Christian church held an all day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Sheeley. The aid from the Polo church were guests.

William Shank and family moved Thursday into the E. S. Poole residence on North Franklin Street. The Ernie Boyd family moved to the farm vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Shank. Mr. and Mrs. William Plum spent Thursday afternoon with their daughter, Mrs. Paul Strite at the Ferling hospital.

The vaudeville given by the pupils of the Old Town school Wednesday evening was a great success. In addition to the program given by the school, Donaldson's orchestra furnished several numbers and Mrs. Art Barnes and Mrs. Robert Copenhaver gave several vocal duets.

1000 HOMELESS IN BIG SPRINGFIELD FLOOD

Here are three scenes from the $1,000,000 flood that left more than 1000 people homeless in Springfield, Ohio. Above are Mrs. Marie Broderick and her four children, saved from their water-bound home by the police. The family was cared for by the Salvation Army which ministered to hundreds of refugees. At the top, right, is pictured a tractor plowing through mud that is Springfield's Main street. Hundreds of tons of dirt were washed down upon Main street from an embankment. The tractor was helping workmen to find the pavement beneath the quagmire. Below, right, is the embankment from which a flood of mud washed down into Main street. Note the overturned box car and the gully formed by the rushing waters of Mill Run.

Now and then we meet an exception to the rule. Further experience usually shows, however, that the rule is pretty sound and the exceptions are quite rare. Colonel Lindbergh is an "exception" in the flying game. So far, at least, he has always come through all of his undertakings in the air while many others have failed in similar exploits. There are exceptions in many lines, but unless you have proved that you are an exceptional person, and don't just think you are, it is best for you to follow the rules.

Begin early to follow the rules of healthful living. To get the best results, you should have been trained in health habits from your birth, for at this time it is as easy to form the right habits as wrong ones. Some persons seem to be able to abuse themselves considerably through bad habits, and still live to an advanced age—but they are the "exceptions" and they are comparatively few in number. Some people have lived through the hardest fought battles of the war; some have endured great privations such as starvation and prolonged exposure to Arctic cold. Recently some persons were saved from drowning after having struggled in the ice-cold water for long hours, but the rule is sound that tells us that peace, food, warmth and strength are best in spite of the experiences of the heroic "exceptions."

Certain children whom one occasionally meets do seem to get along quite satisfactorily on rather odd diets that would certainly prove harmful to the great majority of children. These children are the "exceptions" and must be recognized as such. But, "exceptions do but prove the rule," as a study of the facts readily shows. Exceptional people have a very important part to play in the game of life. They give the color, the spice and the variety—but they are few in number. This is rightly so, for the real progress and strength of the nation is made by the fellows who live and play according to the rules. They are the people who sustain and support the world and give the constant and consistent effort necessary to prosperity and progress in any community or nation. So, unless you have proved yourself to be one of the rare "exceptions," you had better play the game squarely and according to the rules. You will in this way get the most out of life in values of health and wealth and happiness.

"It is not the guns or armament, or the money they can pay, it's the close cooperation that makes them win the day. It is not the individual or the army as a whole. But the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul."

COOLIDGE HAPPY
AS HIS TENURE
OF OFFICE ENDS

President and Wife to Return to Simple Life
Which They Love

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Mar. 2—(AP)—Frankly happy that he and Mrs. Coolidge are about to return to the peace and serenity of their Northampton home, President Coolidge was busy today with last-minute accumulation of government business, urged on by a realization of much to be done and the fact that it was his last full working day as Chief Executive of the nation.

Awaiting his action were nearly 150 pieces of legislation, lacking only his signature to make them laws; there were numerous federal offices of great responsibility to be filled and the day's engagement calendar, standing in its embossed leather frame on the President's desk recalled a long list of government officers, people of national prominence and close friends who wished to drop in, shake hands and bid him goodbye.

Does the Day's Work
Outside the executive offices, workmen could be seen adding the final touches to the stand from which Mr. Coolidge's successor will review the parade in honor of his inauguration and a long queue of out-of-town visitors was gathering to meet the President at the last of his daily noon-hour receptions. But within, it was a business day. The President was adhering to the precept, announced early in his political career, of "doing the day's work."

Mr. Coolidge has made no effort to conceal the fact that his retirement from office will enable him to return to the life he likes best. Although the last eight years have seen him elevated to the highest place in the nation and have been crowded with significant events and accomplishments of which he is intensely proud, there has always lurked in the Chief Executive's mind a desire, sometimes discussed with Mrs. Coolidge, to "go back home."

In his interview with The Associated Press in 1926, Mr. Coolidge mentioned his visits to the old homestead at Plymouth, Vermont, and the pleasure he derived from doing the little odd jobs that were constantly necessary, things that must be left to others when one sits in the White House surrounded by its large staff of servants.

Likes to Wait on Self

"I like to dispense with the kind of service that it is necessary for me to have at the White House and wait on myself," he said then. "If I find a strap broken, I like to get out the tools that are used by shoemakers, make a wax end, and repair it. I like to go out and repair the fence when it is breaking down, and mend the latch on the kitchen door."

It is a simple life of this kind, free from servants and Secret Service men that is beckoning the President to Northampton and serving to allay his deep and often expressed regret that he must sever the many pleasant personal associations which he has built about himself in Washington.

Two events remain on the Coolidge social calendar. Tonight the members of the Cabinet and their wives will be dinner guests at the White House and tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will be hosts at dinner to the President-elect and Mrs. Hoover, Senator Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Edward H. Gann.

BIGGEST BOWLING CONGRESS BEGINS WITH ENTHUSIASM

Over 13,000 Contestants Entered in Events in Chicago Meet

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
Associated Press Writer

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—The greatest extravaganza in bowling's lore, the twenty-ninth annual American Bowling Congress, opens on the 32 newly constructed alleys at Dexter Pavilion tonight.

A record entry of 13,000 maple trundlers, gathered from 275 cities, hamlets and towns in 25 states and Canada, were entered in the tournament, which was baited with prize money totaling $107,770, the largest pot of gold ever offered a bowler or bowlers.

Every detail connected with the tournament was a record smasher. In the five-man event, 2,523 teams were entered. Two-man teams totaled 4,916 and with the pin smashers doubling up to the doubles and all-events, the entry was easily around 13,000. With competition running until April 9, all attendance marks seemed certain to be shattered.

Nothing of disturbing nature to the fancy all-time marks is anticipated during the first five days, however, as competition will be from Chicago booster teams. Rolling in three squads, the Chicago Rotary Club pinsters will take the floor tonight for the blow-off. When the "regulars" compete the Canon-Balls and Maples will crash continuously from 9 A. M. to past midnight.

Former Records
Here are the all-time marks at which the bowlers will shoot: Five-man event: T. Shoop, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 3,199. Established in 1927. Two-man event: T. Thoma, C. Thoma, Chicago, 1,380. Established in 1924.

Singles Event: Harry E. Smyers, Pittsburgh, 749. Established in 1924.

All-events: William J. Knox, Philadelphia, 2,919. Established in 1923.

The present champions and their winning scores are:

Five-man: Oh Henrys of Chicago, 3,057; Doubles, H. Will-J. Hradek, Cicero, Ill., 1,363; Singles, H. Summers, St. Louis, Mo., 705; All events, Phil Wolf, Chicago, 1,937.

First team prize is $1,000; First doubles prize is $500, first singles prize is $350. The all-events purse will be determined later.

Prehn Continues to Wave His Big Stick

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—With its president, Paul Prehn, still waving its big stick, the National Boxing Association continued to block the light heavyweight championship match between Tommy Loughran and Mickey Walker today.

The big stick is the N. B. A.'s demand that Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, post a forfeit to assure that Walker will defend his middleweight title somewhere against someone this summer. At first the forfeit was placed at $25,000, but Prehn, also chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, has reduced this to $10,000, insisting that it be posted in this state.

Kearns had another conference appointment with Prehn today and if no agreement is reached for the bout at the new Chicago Stadium, March 28, the case may be carried to the courts on the grounds that the N. B. A. has no legal authority to block sanction for the match.

Maloney Comes Back and Wins from Heeney

Boston, March 2.—(AP)—Jimmy Maloney of Boston, rated eight months ago as the easiest "push-over" in the heavyweight flock, was crowding fistiana's top-notchers today as a result of his decision over rugged Tom Heeney of New Zealand. Maloney met Heeney for the second time last night and had but little trouble grinding the "Hard Rock" with a succession of left jabs and hooks, the blows which cut the New Zealander to ribbons last July.

Activities at Pastime Alleys

The bowling tournament at the Pastime alleys came to a close last evening in both the A and B leagues and the final standings of the various clubs will be published at an early date. In the A league, Amboy defeated the Reynolds Wire company three straight games and by so doing went into third place in the league standing. Missman rolled 235 for high single and 581 for the high series.

In a contest to decide third and fourth positions in the B league, Ashton rolled against the Oldsmobile team last evening, Ashton winning two games of the series. Sunday rolled high single score by knocking over 208 pins and C. Cross registered high total pins with 541 to his credit. The scores were as follows:

Eighteen months ago, Tom met Maloney for the first time and dropped him for the 10 count with two right hooks in the opening round.

Heeney's face was cut in several places last night, but Maloney escaped unmarked. The latter's body was not even reddened by the New Zealander's slugging.

BOTH OF DIXON HIGH QUINTETS WON LAST NIGHT

Sterling Again Falls Before Stellar Play of Dixon Lads

Two overtime periods were necessary last evening in which to permit the Dixon high school basketball team to add another to its string of victories, but this time it was against Sterling and on the latter's own floor. Both teams played an air-tight brand of basketball, the guarding being close throughout, but Dixon emerged from the battle with the score standing 11 to 9 in their favor. Sterling played a much better game than was anticipated.

The Dixon Lightweights also annexed another victory to their list and won easily from Sterling by a score of 28 to 11. The games attracted a very large crowd and a large delegation of students wearing the purple and white colors, accompanied the Dixon squad. By defeating Sterling last evening, Dixon now has five victories and six losses to their credit. They have an opportunity to even up the wins and losses tonight however, when they go to Mendota to play their final game of the schedule. Mendota is not considered a hard team to beat and the Dixon crew have been going in full blast for the past month, which should give the purple and white an edge on the outcome of this evening's final contest. Several parties of the student body are planning to make the trip to Mendota this evening.

Ohio Given Chance to Beat Michigan

Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—The Big Ten Basketball championship riddle may be solved abruptly in favor of Wisconsin tonight when Ohio State's title-seeking team in the outstanding skirmish of a four-game card at Columbus.

Defeat for Michigan would virtually assure Wisconsin of the championship whereas a Michigan victory would leave solution of the puzzle up to the Michigan-Wisconsin game at Ann Arbor Monday night.

To date, Michigan has lost two games out of 10, while Wisconsin has dropped but one.

The three other games on tonight's program, Northwestern at Iowa, Chicago at Minnesota, and Purdue at Illinois, have bearing only on first division standing, as Purdue dropped out of the race by losing to Wisconsin last Monday night.

Despite Ohio State's off-again, on-again season, the Buckeyes were granted a big chance to drop Coach George Veenker's rangy Wolverines tonight. Michigan defeated Ohio State, 34 to 24, February 9 at Ann Arbor.

be back at Georgia Tech next fall. It is said he has been approached by Mal Stevens, the young Yale coach, with a proposition that would give the Eli institution his services as line coach during the football season.

The moral to all this, if there is any, is that Alex is paying a penalty for all the honor heaped upon him and his football team last fall—the penalty of losing two major assistants who helped him make the team the outstanding one of the year.

DeKalb Teachers are Beaten in State Meet

Macomb, Ill., Mar. 2.—(AP)—Swinging into the last days grind after a series of upsets, the second annual State Teachers College basketball tournament was to finish late today, with Western Teachers of Macomb a decided favorite.

Northern Teachers College of DeKalb was eliminated last night by Southern Teachers, 39-27. The DeKalb quintet previously lost to Western Teachers 42-22.

Illinois Normal University, another favorite, dropped its second game to Eastern Teachers, 36-27. The red birds took a previous 32-30 contest from Southern Teachers.

As a result of the Normals' defeat last night, and the Southerners' win over Northern Teachers, the two meet again in the lower bracket this morning.

Ray Hanson's Leathernecks clash with Eastern Teachers following the Normal-Southern contest. Coaches decided results of the tourney would not affect their standings in the Little 19 Conference.

Hooks and Slides

Tough on Alex
It is interesting to observe the demand being made for the services of those fellows who helped Bill Alexander turn out that crack football team at Georgia Tech last fall.

It may be remembered that Alex's team was undefeated in the southland, that he defeated Notre Dame for the first time, and then eked out a victory over California in the annual Tournament of Roses game.

Don Miller was one of Alex's assistants. He coached the backs, and there is no need to tell anyone that he did a very swell job of it. Few teams had a better backfield than Georgia Tech had in Mizell, Thompson, Lumpkin and Durant.

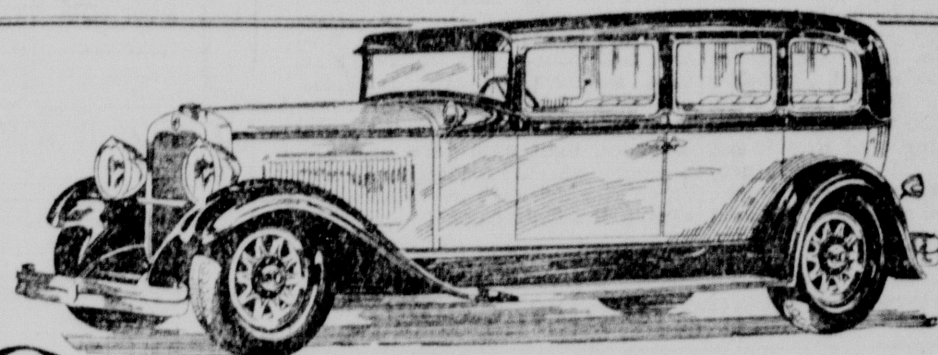

When Ohio State appointed Sam Willaman successor to Dr. Jack Wilce, the first step Willaman made was to enlist Miller's services as backfield coach. The former Four Horseman lives in Cleveland, where he practices law nine months of the year, and the post was accepted.

Yale Wants Fincher
Another fellow whom Alex is quite willing to give ample credit for the part he played in the development of the Georgia Tech team, this year and other years, is Bill Fincher.

Fincher is one of the greatest players ever turned out in the south, and was an All-America line choice a number of years ago. Fincher, so the rumor has it, won't Compare Delivered Prices!

IN buying your new car, we have this suggestion to offer: Find out both the factory (f. o. b.) price and the delivered price of each car under consideration. See how much difference between the two prices, and ask why.

You will discover this: That Nash "400" delivered prices are closer to the factory prices than competitive cars. Because Nash cars are factory equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, tire lock—every necessary accessory.

All these are bought in tremendous volume, and all are included in the factory price, instead of being added as "extras," at retail figures, by the dealer.

Some dealers (not Nash dealers) add as much as $50 or $60 for bumpers alone. Buy a "400," and get more for your money!

WINNING GARB FOR WORKING HOURS

Work-a-day clothes form an important part of every housewife's wardrobe, and there is no reason why she should not be trimly and attractively dressed even for the most menial of tasks.

The house frock shown here, for example, meets all the requirements of simplicity, smartness and freedom of movement. It also meets the slender pocket book, since it can be made for little or nothing at home. The materials required are four empty flour bags and four yards of bias tape. A patent leather or suede belt is a smart accessory and can be used on any number of other frocks besides, or a narrow belt of contrasting material can be made.

The bags you probably have in the house from flour bought for home baking, or almost any baker will sell them for a few cents apiece. First you will want to take out the stamping, and that is not a difficult task. Many women prefer to do this by covering the inked places with lard or soaking them in kerosene for a few hours and then washing in warm water. This flour bag material takes an excellent dye so that with a little effort one may have her favorite shade of green, blue or rose, with bias binding in some effective contrasting color.

In cutting such a pattern as this out of flour bags, it will be necessary to have a seam across the shoulder. A smart effect is obtained by binding the front edge of the shoulders and then stitching it down to the back edge.

The clever apron also shown can be made from the same material. This style requires a little more work than a straight slip-over model, but its additional attractiveness well repays one. The circular skirt is scalloped top and bottom and bound with colored bias tape, as are the pocket, armholes and neck and straps. A corn yellow with black, light green with lavender, light with dark blue are a few of the effective color schemes which may be obtained by dyeing the flour bags.

Women's Tribute to Mrs. Coolidge

As a tribute to her "graciousness as a White House hostess," this brooch containing 200 diamonds will be presented to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge by social leaders of Washington. The central stone of the beautiful gem is two and a half carats, and the chain on which the stone may be worn as a pendant is of platinum.

HORATIO ALGER TALE.

London.—From a newspaper vendor to stage actor. That's the accomplishment of Johnnie Harris, who sold papers at Merthyr, Glamorgan, not so long ago. Johnnie sang at his work and was overheard by a showman seeking talent. Stage tests followed and Johnnie is now, in the estimation of Arthur Sleet, review producer, "the greatest find I have come across during my 20 years connection with the stage."

LIGHT CONTROL.

London.—Britain's newest invention is the "Radiovisor." It consists of a small, light-sensitive instrument, which can be used to operate alarm bells, switch on lights, control trains, work signals, etc. It occupies precisely the same relationship in regard to light that the radio occupies in regard to the ether.

on him Saturday afternoon for her monthly alimony check but insists he was alive when she left him.
The next suspect is Ruth Lester, denies.

JAIR HAYWARD, Ruth's fiancé, is called just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's private office, is the next questioned. He says he returned to the seventh

Borden's manservant, tells Mc-

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Miller entertained with dinner Friday, the event was a surprise to at least two people, Mrs. O. O. Miller, mother of L. J. Miller, and R. W. Smith, father of Mrs. Miller. The former was born the same date of Washington while the latter's birthday was Feb. 21st. The happy group in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Miller and daughter June, Mr. and Mrs. John Cover, Miss Sarah Wolf, Miss Katherine Emmert all of this place; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Reisinger and family of Dixon, Mr. Smith and Mrs. Miller both have a host of friends who are wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Honor Granddaughter.

Mrs. August Reinhardt delightfully entertained about 25 friends Friday evening, Feb. 22, in honor of her granddaughter, Miss Ethel Nass, sixteenth birthday. Those present to enjoy the happy event were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Full and daughter Marcella, Lamb Full, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gonnemann, and son Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and daughter Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gleim, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nass and daughter, Miss Ethel, Misses Hazel, Bill, Eunice Miller, Gladys Kruth, Will Gonnemann. The other friends of Miss Ethel join with these friends in wishing her many more birthday anniversaries.

Victim of Surprise.

Miss Golda Graves was the victim of a surprise Tuesday evening, it being her 18th birthday anniversary. While she was away from home twelve young people gathered at her home and on her return she was most completely surprised. Progressive fan fan was the amusement of the evening, at which Miss Helen Blocher won the first prize and Miss Lois Smith the second. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the young folks departed for their homes wishing Miss Golda many more birthdays.

Happy Birthday

Master John Senger celebrated his seventh birthday Friday afternoon by entertaining his schoolmates of the primary room. One little girl said, "Oh we just had the most fun." Sure they did for no one can have the real good time that children can. The weather was cold and some of the children could not attend but the good things they had to eat were taken to their homes by John's father, which made the eyes of the lads dance with joy. It was a thoughtful act. We wish for John many more birthdays and that he may grow to be as good a man as his father.

Woman's Club Meets.

The Woman's Club will meet with the president, Mrs. T. W. Brown, Monday, March 4 at 2:15 p. m. The program will be given by the Department of American Homes, Miss Maude Conlon, chairman. This will be "Garden Days" and all members are asked to bring to the club or send to Miss Conlon a package of choice seeds or a plant or bulb. These will be exchanged at the meeting. At the February meeting of the club much enthusiasm was expressed concerning the value of a Garden Club for this community, but no one seemed to know just how to go about it, so it was decided to take a month to learn what we could about the matter and to get all the help we could from all sources possible. So at the meeting next Monday we are to have present a speaker from the Rochelle Garden Club who will tell of their plans and what they have done along this line. Much interest has been expressed in this project, not only among the members of the Women's Club, but also by those who are not members. This program is planned to stimulate a stronger desire for such work and more definite plans for its accomplishment. Each member, as planned at the last meeting, is asked to bring a suggestion as to what may be done in our community by a Garden Club. This is planned to include both flower and vegetable gardens. The roll call response is "Blossoms All Year Round" and each one is asked to find a nature verse for the different months or as many as they can. It is earnestly hoped that each member will be present.

New Books

New books have been received by the library book committee. They will be catalogued and placed on the shelves as soon as possible. We expect to have the list of new books in this column next week. If you have not renewed your subscription to the library better do so, and if you are not a member better get busy as these new books are just what you want to read. It only costs fifty cents year to be a member and you are then entitled to two books a week. Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday night, the library is open. We are for the library first last and always and will do all we can to help maintain it in our town, but it must have members to keep it up. Get the Library habit.

Kilos Enjoy Social Event

On a recent date occurred the second social event of the Kilo Club for the year was held at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Cover. The assisting hostesses were Mesdames Della Gilbert, Grace Stultz and Edyth Morgan.

A luncheon was served at 10 o'clock and this being an hour or more past the usual noon meal, the ladies were unusually hungry and partook of what was set before them without asking any questions or making any comments.

During the afternoon a noted fortune teller was present and her prophecies of the future brought smiles to many a care-worn face.

After a few exciting games of heart, at which it is reported Mrs. Nellie Hausen made several serious blunders, it was decided to award Mrs. Beryl Fish first prize and Mrs. Nellie Hausen second. On departing for their homes the guests insisted they had a very pleasant afternoon.

William A. Sprague Dies

William A. Sprague, father of Mrs. J. B. Johnston, died at the home of his son William in Ashton, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, following a long illness with cancer. Mr. Sprague was born in Covington, Kentucky, and lacked one day of being 64 years of age. The family moved from St. Cloud, Minn., to Ashton last May. Mr. Sprague was twice married and is survived by two children of the first marriage, Mrs. J. B. Johnston of this place, and William Cummings of Ashton. Two daughters of his first wife preceded him in death. Besides his second wife he is survived also by one son, Devon, aged 19.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from the late home in Ashton at 2:30. Reverend Tavenner of the Methodist church having charge of the services. Interment in the Franklin Grove cemetery. We join with Mrs. Johnston's friends in extending sympathy to her.

Ninety Years Old

David Barkman celebrated his birthday anniversary Friday. He was ninety years old, and that the day might be one long to be remembered by him and his good wife, he was surprised by a company of seventeen friends, who brought their dinners and made merry this memorable day. Mrs. Trago and daughter and three grand children of Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stauffer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brantner, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickey of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beachley of this place. Two families from Pine Creek tried to come, but could not on account of the heavy snow on the roads. Mr. Barkman is enjoying good health some days being better than others. Sunday morning he walked to the church of the Brethren, of which he has been a member for many years. His friends are extending to him hearty congratulations and wishes for many more birthday anniversaries.

This is real Heato weather. If you feel trouble you get a box of Healo.
